Move to Moody Aviation

It is hard to believe that, after 20 years on the mission field, the Lord would call us back to the States. While our new ministry still focuses on and invests into reaching ethnic people groups around the world with the Gospel, we find ourselves no longer at “the tip of the arrow.” God has brought us full-circle back to “the shaft of the arrow,” where a lot of technical support goes into making the arrow reach its mark.

Throughout my career as a missionary pilot, I have benefited from countless people supporting me to fly on the front lines. Many of these people were either specialists who would come along side me to do what I’m not trained to do, or pilots who have trained me and kept me current in the cockpit. In such a technical world, you cannot survive without good training!! Albert Einstein once said, “Education is not the learning of facts but the training of the mind to THINK.” I had a mountain of unsung heroes who were pilots and technicians that taught me to fly, think and manage a flight program so that, in turn, I could meet the needs of missionaries on the field. God uses the Body of believers in this extended manner to accomplish His work.

Well, Julie and I are now on the other end of that arrow. We are now engaging with students to train them to be missionary pilots. Will you pray with us as we begin this new avenue of ministry with Ethnos360 Aviation??

Indonesian Candidates:

As many of you know, we have been trying to get two Indonesians to Moody Aviation in order to begin their training as missionary pilot and mechanic. They applied for student visas back in August and were denied. Please pray with us as we work towards gaining support from a U.S. Senator to re-apply for student visas. We are trusting the Lord’s timing in this, and are aiming now for them to start at Moody in the spring semester. In the meantime, our Indonesian friends continue to do English language studies to prepare themselves for this move.

Abby has moved to Taylor University!!

On August 20th, Julie and I dropped our daughter off to college. Talk about a tough thing to do!! While we are totally confident that Abby will do great, it is never easy to say goodbye. Since then, Abby has really done well, and seems to be enjoying college life. Please pray for her as she adjusts to being away from home and to having a much heavier school load.

Highlight on Ethan and Isaac:

The boys have started a new year of school. The Lord has provided them with a great opportunity to attend a local Christian school. They have joined the school's cross country team, and are really enjoying it. I can't believe how many miles they are running!!!

Pray for the boys as they forge new friendships and prepare themselves for adulthood. (pic at right: Ethan is in the green shorts, Isaac is in the orange shorts)
